FORMER NPS FOUNDATION PRESIDENT HONORED

The late Jean Lapham Thomas, former NPS Foundation president, was honored posthumously by the Monterey County Commission on the Status of Women last Sunday, Mar. 7.

The event was held in conjunction with National Women's History Month.

The 15-member commission was designed to end discrimination and prejudice based on sex within county government and to promote and ensure equal rights and opportunities for women.

In 1974, Thomas was the first woman elected to the NPS Foundation, and later served as president.

Thomas served on many organizations throughout the county, including a leadership role for 26 years with the Monterey Institute of International Studies. Thomas died in October 1992.

Sunday's event, the seventh annual awards ceremony sponsored by the commission in observance of Women's History Month, honored 11 Monterey County women. Thomas was the only woman honored posthumously.

RECOGNITION MARITIME WOMEN

Achievements of maritime women of Monterey will be recognized at the special program for Women's History Month this Friday, Mar. 12, from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

"Maritime Women - - Protectors, Preservationists, and Explorers" is the title of the program.

The program takes place at the Grace H. Dodge Memorial Chapel, Asilomar

MARROW DONOR DRIVE

Lt. Larry Steckler, NPS programs office, provides a sample of blood to Lici Marron, Bone Marrow Donor Program volunteer, Tuesday, Mar. 9 on the Quarterdeck Lounge.

Blood samples and registrations have been taking place on the Quarterdeck Lounge in Herrmann Hall. No, it isn't new students reporting in; it's the NPS Bone Marrow Donor Drive. One hundred and twenty-three donors gave blood samples Sunday, Mar. 7 and 135 more did on Tuesday, Mar. 9. All the donors will be entered into a registry in Washington D.C. If it is determined that a donor is a potential life-saving candidate for someone in need of a bone marrow transplant, the candidate will be asked to donate through a simple process. The next chance to donate is Sunday, Mar. 14, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., on the Quarterdeck Lounge in Herrmann Hall.

WOMEN IN UNIFORM MAJOR ROLE IN SERVICES

Although their number in today's armed forces fell more than 10 percent last year, women still make up about 11 percent of the active force.

Recent DoD figures show 205,571 women on active duty.

Women have served in the U.S. military throughout the country's history. Before World War II, women served in limited capacities, such as nursing and clerical, but only during war. Women served during the Civil War and World War I. As soon as the conflicts ended, women were discharged.

World War II was fought on two fronts. To meet the massive need for combat troops, the military decided that women could enlist and wear the uniform, thus freeing men for combat. More than 260,000 women entered the armed forces.

Following the war, the services discharged all but 14,000 women. In 1948, this situation changed with the passage of the Women's Armed Services Integration Act.

When the United States fought a war in Vietnam, women in the military were there. They served in Grenada, Panama, and the Persian Gulf and during recent humanitarian operations.

Women such as the late Navy Rear Adm. Grace Hopper, Air Force Maj. Gen.

WOMEN

Jeanne Holm, Army Maj. Rhonda Cornum, Marine Col. Ruth Streeter and Coast Guard Capt. Dorothy Stratton have been names in the news.

Only one woman, Dr. Mary Walker, received the Medal of Honor. But in 1917, a military review board revoked her Medal of Honor, saying it was unwarranted. In 1977, the Army Board for Correction of Military Records recommended it be reinstated.

A physician under contract to the Union Army during the Civil War, Walker served as a surgeon at some of the bloodiest battlefields of the war -- Bull Run, 1861, Chickamauga, 1863, and Atlanta, 1864. She also spent four months as a prisoner of war.
